Turkish leader renews criticism of Pope RSS

Sep. 28 (CWNNews.com) - Turkey's Prime Minister Tayyip Erdogan has renewed his criticism of Pope Benedict XVI (bio - news), who is scheduled to visit Turkey in November.

In his speech to the university faculty of Regensburg, Erdogan said, the Pope "spoke in a way that is not fitting even for us politicians." He said that the Pontiff had insulted Mohammed, and "we could not tolerate this."

The Turkish premier complained that Pope Benedict still has not apologized for his speech, saying that public statements released by the Vatican and by the Pontiff himself have been "maneuvers" to avoid direct responsibility. He predicted that when the Pontiff travels to Turkey in November, President Ahmet Necdet Sezer will "say the necessary things" to rebuke him.
